High School Student Experiences the Life-Changing Impact of Serving God - illustrates children's Book to Share with our future young missionaries

SURPRISE, AZ. April 22, 2025. The Mission Trip to El Salvador to build houses and interact with the people of La Puerta Abierta, The Open Door Church was life-changing for Madeline Miller, a high school student from Radiant Church. But events took on far greater importance as she continued to follow God's call at home. With her gifted illustrations the children's book Traveling With Jesus highlights her trip in ways that teach our future missionaries what it can mean to serve.

Upon her return with the 23 member group on mission in Santa Ana, El Salvador, Maddie wrote thank you letters to her church for their financial and prayer support and to share the depth of what she had learned and experienced in following and serving Jesus. Through the awesome power of the Holy Spirit, this led a volunteer of the REACH program, Carolyn Snelling, to develop the concept of a children's book to introduce Jesus' teachings to serve others.

As the concept was born, Maddie was called to use her well-established gift of illustration to create the characters. She created animal characters to share feelings about going to a new place, apprehension about new food and meeting new people. These characters also shared building homes, interacting with other children (also animals) as they played and ate together and the warm welcome they received when first arriving at La Puerta Abierta, The Open Door Church.

Church mission trips demonstrate ways to serve others across the county and around the globe. This book helps the younger children learn what their older siblings and church family are doing and how they can use these same teachings to serve here at home. This captivating story is helpful as a Sunday School or home school lesson or a Children's message when others are commissioned for mission work.

Published by Carpenter's Son Publishing, Traveling With Jesus retails for $21.95. Available wherever books are sold online, local bookstores, church bookstores.
